Azur & Asmar:

The Princes' Quest

A fantastic adventure across magical, mythical lands and seas. Once upon a time there were two children brought up by the same woman - Azur, the son of a nobleman, and Asmar, the son of the nanny who tells them both many enchanting stories. One dark day fate cruelly separates them. 'A visual masterpiece that makes the most of its Islamic art influences.' (Empire)

Directed by Michel Ocelot | France, Spain, Belgium, Italy | 2006 | 1hr 39min | (U)

7 November, 7pm

The Pirogue

Moussa Touré's powerful refugee drama is the story of 30 Senegalese men from different ethnic and religious backgrounds attempting to reach the Canary Islands in a small wooden pirogue across the treacherous sea. 'What distinguishes The Pirogue is not the depiction of danger and loss at sea, but a deep understanding of West African culture... The Pirogue is rich with authentic details.' (NPR)

Directed by Moussa Touré | France, Senegal, Germany | 2012 | 1hr 27min | (12A)
