WHO IS FUNDING THIS RESEARCH?

This research is funded by the Leverhulme Trust, and the researcher is working at the University of Nottingham.

What was the role of your gender and sexuality in your journey?

Is religion, faith, or spirituality important to you?

MORE INFORMATION

It's up to you to participate. If you are happy to take part please contact Diego for an informal chat to get more information.

We will provide you with a Participant Information Sheet and Consent Form with more information about the research.

RESEARCH
OPPORTUNITY:
LGBT REFUGEES
& PEOPLE SEEKING ASYLUM

We are looking for LGBT refugees and asylum seekers to tell us about their experiences in a safe and confidential way. You will be compensated for your time!

WHAT IS THIS FOR?

We would like to listen to your perceptions and experiences with the asylum system in relation to your gender, sexuality and religion. The goal is to use our findings to provide recommendations to improve the asylum system.

Diego will keep your data safe and follow all privacy rules. If you want to remain anonymous, we will ensure that no one can work out who you are.

CONVENIENT

We will meet with you at a time and safe location convenient for you.

YOUR STORY

There are no correct answers to the questions we will ask. It is your personal experience that is important! :)

INTERVIEWS

We will use a participatory interview approach where you can meet the researcher at a convenient location and show the places that are meaningful to you.

FOCUS GROUP DISCUSSIONS

Sharing information can be beneficial for participants in a group. Either online or in a safe setting indoors, focus groups will take place with the researcher and 4–5 other participants. You can skip this if you don't feel comfortable joining a group and just attend a one-to-one session.
