

SOPHIE HAYES

FOUNDATION

Sustainable freedom from modern slavery

Hybrid Employability Programme

ABOUT US

Founded by a survivor trafficked to Italy.

Sophie Hayes Foundation is an independent organisation in the UK focused on helping survivors of human trafficking and modern slavery build confidence through coaching and skills development that leads to education, employment, and independence, helping them to achieve sustainable freedom.

We provide coaching and development programmes to remove barriers to freedom. This includes support accessing vocational work placements, internships, volunteer opportunities, training, and formal education.

Our Purpose

A better future for every survivor of human trafficking leading to a better society for all.

Our Vision

A society that views and treats survivors of human trafficking with respect and allows every freed survivor to realise their potential, achieve their goals and a better future.

By putting the needs of each survivor at the centre of our activities, we will develop programmes that are relevant and help to remove the barriers to sustainable freedom.

We will be a valued, independent voice and an actor for change, working with the right partners to create the greatest impact.

HYBRID EMPLOYABILITY PROGRAMME

Over a 12-month period, the 3 Module Employability Programme helps survivors develop various skills through group workshops, one-to-one sessions, remote learning, group coaching, work placements, access to training, and formal education.

- All sessions are delivered by a dedicated Employability Programme Coordinator plus Employability Programme Volunteers
- Two sessions of Module 1 (Session 1&10) and one session of Module 2 (Session 7) are in-person. The rest are remote via Microsoft Teams.
- Survivors always have access to a dedicated EP staff member
- EPCs maintain contact with the referring referral partner throughout the survivors' journey with the Foundation
- There is no cost to survivors for participation
- Survivors can re-enrol if their lives require them to pause or leave the programme.

MODULE ONE

WORKSHOPS FOR EMOTIONAL GROWTH

3 months of weekly group workshops that aim to rebuild confidence, purpose, strength, and resilience.

MODULE TWO

COACHING TO ACCESS EMPLOYMENT & EDUCATION

4 months of group and one-to-one coaching sessions to develop employability skills.

MODULE THREE

PLACEMENTS & EDUCATION

Up to 6 months of monthly group sessions for support into work placements, volunteering and further education.

"This has helped me in so many ways, not just focusing on my employment in future. I have learnt more about myself, my purpose, communications with others and how to enjoy new things!" Marion

'Whole week I am looking forward to this session' Angeline

REFERRAL PROCESS

Before a new Hybrid Employability Programme, Sophie Hayes Foundation hosts referral partner events, to provide an overview of the programme, any updates, hear about the work of referral partners and answer any questions.

Referrals are received via an Online Referral Form

EP Coordinators:

- Acknowledge referrals to referral partner
- Request referral partner inform survivor that EPC will be in touch.
- Contact survivor via phone to assess readiness to engage in the programme.
- Contact referral partner case/support worker with outcome of survivor assessment *
- Contact survivor with next steps for joining the programme.

*If survivor is assessed as not ready to begin the programme, EPC will advise referral partner case/support worker to re-enrol participant in a future cohort of the programme

ONGOING COMMUNICATIONS

Throughout the survivor's journey on the Hybrid Employability Programme, EPCs maintain contact with referral partners in the following cases:

- Client update and progress through the programme.
- Safeguarding concerns or disclosures
- Support for participant claims to legal processes
- Recommendations that participant be placed on pause or re-enrolled at a later date.

At Sophie Hayes Foundation, we believe the success of any candidate is based on strong working relationships with the referral partner.

Formerly known as the Survivor Network, The CREW is a peer to peer programme for all past and current survivors. The programme objectives are to further develop social and employability skills, with fun activities that grow friendships through regular remote and in-person events.

The CREW is led by a survivor committee representing each location of Sophie Hayes Foundation delivery and comprises of past and current participants acting in a leadership role.

THE CREW MEMBERSHIP

- All past and current participants of both the (Hybrid) Employability Programme, have automatic membership to The CREW
- Future Employability Programme participants are automatically enrolled into The CREW once accepted onto a programme
